Completed in three phases, the expansion and modernization of Vienna Presbyterian Church involves master planning, architecture, and interior design for a 3,000 member congregation located in the town of Vienna's urban center.

Highlights of the first phase include a new 750-seat sanctuary, a large sky-lit gathering area, classrooms, and a parlor that links the new construction to the historic 1873 chapel. Subsequent phases expand the sanctuary to 1,000 seats and add a 500-seat fellowship hall, new offices, a preschool classroom suite, over 25 new classrooms and a music suite.

Greatly expanded and fully renovated, the entire campus shines with a unified aesthetic that continues to meet the evolving contemporary needs of this historic church.
