The Arbors at Broadlands is a 240-unit garden apartment project in the planned community of Broadlands along the Dulles Greenway. The striking four-story buildings are carefully sited around preserved forest areas, providing a lush backdrop of foliage to these upscale residences.

The airy and open unit plans have distinctive features, including high ceilings, large balconies, oversized windows, laundry and storage rooms within each unit, and large kitchens. Loft units with upper story windows add drama and flexible space to top floor units. Amenities available to residents include private enclosed garages, a community building with a light-filled great hall, exercise and play rooms, and a swimming pool.
